About Altis

altis

Altis is the most experienced, vendor-independent data & analytics consultancy in Australia and New Zealand.

Providing data & analytics solutions to a wide range of industries since 1998

- We have a unique approach to providing clients with efficient access to their information and maximising the usefulness and profitability of that information. This approach has been proven in numerous countries and across business, government and Not for Profit sectors.

- We partner with acknowledged world experts that provide training and direct access to thought leadership in: Data Warehousing, Data Management, Data Visualisation, Data Storytelling and Analytics.

- Through our exceptional training and people management practices we attract and retain the very best people in the industry, as evidenced by 10 years in a row in BRW's Great Place to Work survey.

Established in 1998, Altis Consulting is a privately held Australian company with over 100+ dedicated and highly-skilled staff who provide all aspects of the data & analytics value chain, from strategy and roadmaps to tool selection, architecture to project management, delivery, training and Managed Services and skills transfer to your team. Employing a proven combination of technical skill, expertise, communication and listening, we deliver results that will maximise your business performance.

While we have experience in almost every industry sector, we have expertise in telecommunications, government, universities, logistics, insurance, health services and utilities.

We have offices in Sydney, Melbourne, Canberra, Auckland and London.

What we do

We are a data & analytics consultancy built on the philosophy that our people make our business and our clients' businesses successful. Combining industry expertise, technical skill, communication and listening, our team delivers results that will maximise your business performance.
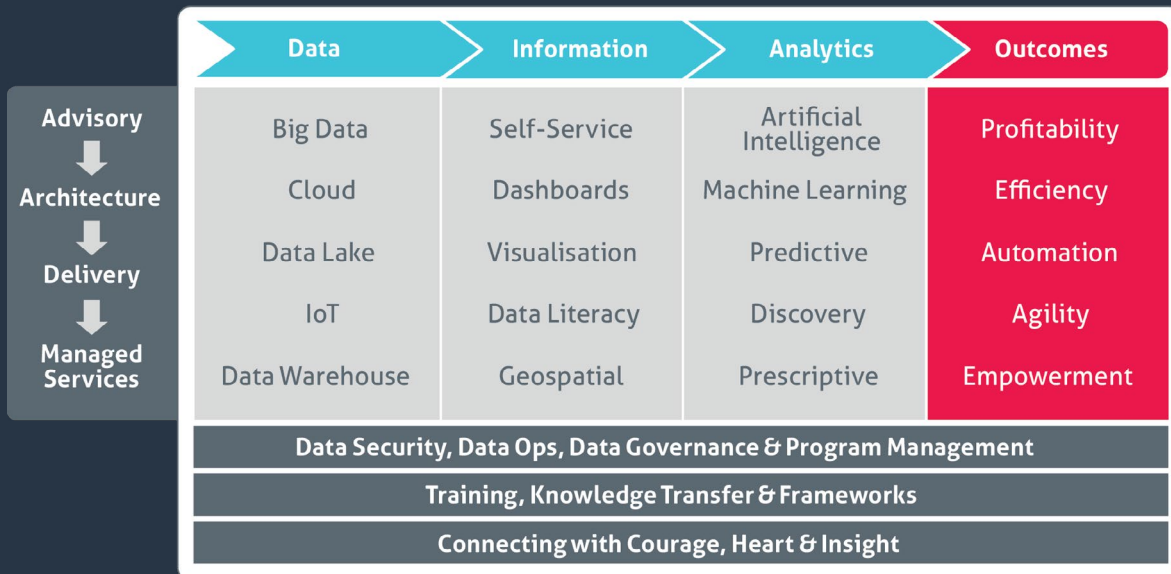

Ultimately, we want to give your business a competitive advantage and help you make more effective use of your funding. Whether that is through increased revenue or eliminating costs, improving your supply chain or staffing capability, we work to ensure you have access to information that's easy to understand, so you can make the right decisions confidently.

From strategic planning and advisory services through to delivery and managed services, our suite of consulting services ensures successful outcomes for our clients.

We have a proven approach to provide clients with access to their information and help them understand it, so they can make the right decisions to maximise business performance with confidence.

Best Practice and Delivery

Altis has developed and refined its own architecture and design standards based on the following:

- Over 21 years of experience in delivering data & analytics solutions
- Methodologies and practices advocated by thought leaders such as Kimball, Inmon and Linstedt (Data Vault)
- Specific product and platform expertise e.g. around the Microsoft Azure and AWS stacks

Instead of being prescriptive, Altis likes to adopt a pragmatic and fit-for-purpose approach with individual clients to come up with solutions that are best suited to that client's requirements.

Industry Best Practice Trained Consultants

Our consultants are skilled and trained in Kimball methodologies, Data Visualisation design and Data Storytelling techniques. There's nothing worse than getting a project approved and then struggling to get the resources you need. It is a sure-fire way of getting your project off to the wrong start and jeopardising your delivery before you've even started. We have a large pool of experienced consultants to give you absolute confidence in our delivery. Our consultants know and implement best practice solutions for Data Ingestion, Data Warehousing, Dimensional Modelling and Data Storytelling.

Vendor Independent

We are a strategic partner with all the large data & analytics vendors. We are trained and certified on their platforms but importantly, we're not resellers which means we offer independent advice on the most appropriate solution for your needs, rather than recommending a solution for our own financial gain. The unique Altis Software Selection Methodology leverages our ability to understand the business requirements of end users and select the most appropriate software solution for present and future needs on a client's behalf.
